UDL Questionnaire (IM12)

1. How are both flexibility and student choices provided for the following presentation features in the instructional materials:

- Fonts:
  - Type and size.
  - Colors and background colors can be adjusted.
- Background: High contrast color settings are available.
- Text-to-speech tools
- All images have alt tags.
- All videos are captioned.
- Text, image tags, and captioning sent to refreshable Braille displays.

Answer: Because the Studies Weekly platform integrates with the native features of a browser, no additional controls are required in the application itself to change the font size. Careful UX design and research was employed to choose colors and background colors that have contrast and that are friendly to color-blind students. The UX design employs good contrast for readability. All articles and assessment questions have audio available with synchronized highlighting. Images have captions as text features. These captions are readable by a screen reader. The videos in Studies Weekly have closed captioning. Our publications are NIMAC certified to allow for Braille and other accessibility options.

2. How are the following navigation features provided in the instructional materials:

- Non-text navigation elements (buttons, icons, etc.) can be adjusted in size
- All navigation elements and menu items have keyboard shortcuts.
- All navigation information can be sent to refreshable Braille displays.

Answer: All navigation within Studies Weekly's online publications is navigable without the use of text, though text is provided for additional support. Arrows show whether a button navigates forward or backward, and audio settings use symbols rather than words to suggest action. Studies Weekly publications are NIMAC certified to allow for Braille and other accessibility options.

3. How are the following study tools provided in the instructional materials:

- Highlighters are provided in the four standard colors (yellow, rose, green, blue).
- Highlighted text can be automatically extracted into another document.
- Note taking tools are available for students to write ideas online; as they are processing curriculum content.

Answer: Highlighters are provided in the four standard colors: yellow, rose, green, and blue. Highlights on the text are saved and can be accessed through our reports suite. Students can request.

UDL Questionnaire (IM12)

---

1. How are both flexibility and student choices provided for the following presentation features in the instructional materials:

- Fonts:
  - Type and size.
  - Colors and background colors can be adjusted.
- Background: High contrast color settings are available.
- Text-to-speech tools
- All images have alt tags.
- All videos are captioned.
- Text, image tags, and captioning sent to refreshable Braille displays.

Answer: Because the Studies Weekly platform integrates with the native features of a browser, no additional controls are required in the application itself to change the font size. Careful UX design and research was employed to choose colors and background colors that have contrast and that are friendly to color-blind students. The UX design employs good contrast for readability. All articles and assessment questions have audio available with synchronized highlighting. Images have captions as text features. These captions are readable by a screen reader. The videos in Studies Weekly have closed captioning. Our publications are NIMAC certified to allow for Braille and other accessibility options.

2. How are the following navigation features provided in the instructional materials:

- Non-text navigation elements (buttons, icons, etc.) can be adjusted in size
- All navigation elements and menu items have keyboard shortcuts.
- All navigation information can be sent to refreshable Braille displays.

Answer: All navigation within Studies Weekly's online publications is navigable without the use of text, though text is provided for additional support. Arrows show whether a button navigates forward or backward, and audio settings use symbols rather than words to suggest action. Studies Weekly publications are NIMAC certified to allow for Braille and other accessibility options.

UDL Questionnaire (IM12)

1. How are both flexibility and student choices provided for the following presentation features in the instructional materials:

- Fonts:
  - Type and size.
  - Colors and background colors can be adjusted.
- Background: High contrast color settings are available.
- Text-to-speech tools
- All images have alt tags.
- All videos are captioned.
- Text, image tags, and captioning sent to refreshable Braille displays.

Answer: Because the Studies Weekly platform integrates with the native features of a browser, no additional controls are required in the application itself to change the font size. Careful UX design and research was employed to choose colors and background colors that have contrast and that are friendly to color-blind students. The UX design employs good contrast for readability. All articles and assessment questions have audio available with synchronized highlighting. Images have captions as text features. These captions are readable by a screen reader. The videos in Studies Weekly have closed captioning. Our publications are NIMAC certified to allow for Braille and other accessibility options.

2. How are the following navigation features provided in the instructional materials:

- Non-text navigation elements (buttons, icons, etc.) can be adjusted in size
- All navigation elements and menu items have keyboard shortcuts.
- All navigation information can be sent to refreshable Braille displays.

Answer: All navigation within Studies Weekly's online publications is navigable without the use of text, though text is provided for additional support. Arrows show whether a button navigates forward or backward, and audio settings use symbols rather than words to suggest action. Studies Weekly publications are NIMAC certified to allow for Braille and other accessibility options.

3. How are the following study tools provided in the instructional materials:

UDL Questionnaire (IM12)

1. How are both flexibility and student choices provided for the following presentation features in the instructional materials:

- Fonts:
  - Type and size.
  - Colors and background colors can be adjusted.
- Background: High contrast color settings are available.
- Text-to-speech tools
- All images have alt tags.
- All videos are captioned.
- Text, image tags, and captioning sent to refreshable Braille displays.

Answer: Because the Studies Weekly platform integrates with the native features of a browser, no additional controls are required in the application itself to change the font size. Careful UX design and research was employed to choose colors and background colors that have contrast and that are friendly to color-blind students. The UX design employs good contrast for readability. All articles and assessment questions have audio available with synchronized highlighting. Images have captions as text features. These captions are readable by a screen reader. The videos in Studies Weekly have closed captioning. Our publications are NIMAC certified to allow for Braille and other accessibility options.
